LETTER FROM THE CEO

DEAR SHAREHOLDERS,

The end of 2020 saw a completely transformed NEXT. We are now a company poised for growth, with a much lower cost base, solid funding and products where we have a competitive advantage.

The most significant transition in 2020 has been cost savings of 73 per cent. We set a Q4 OPEX target of NOK 5 million per month, and reached this one quarter ahead of plan. This was achieved by a complete reallocation of resources, with the aim of becoming a customer focused technology company.

Part of this reallocation has been to simplify our product portfolio. We focus on products where the unique NEXT technology brings a clear competitive advantage, and where we can achieve healthy gross margins. The effect of this is showing in the growing number of design-wins since May 2020. Put simply we have moved from deliveries to one customer to serving many.

At the same time, the pandemic has of course impacted our sales efforts during 2020, with sales cycles in our industry becoming longer. This has slowed down our revenue growth. However, the situation is not expected to last, and we will continue to report new design-wins and purchase orders going forward.

We completed a private placement of NOK 50 million in Q2 2020, a subsequent share offering in Q3, and we again raised NOK 89 million in Q1 2021. This shows that shareholders believe in our new strategy. A financially stronger NEXT is important towards customers, employees and the stock market. Combined with our present cost base and growing sales and margins, the capital raised provides us with a defined road map to a break-even situation.

Events in early 2021 have shown that our efforts in 2020 are now being rewarded. We can safely say that we are on the right track. Especially we have a strong belief in the future success of our FBI certified FAP20 sensor. Together with our new partner, published in March 2021, we are in the position to disrupt a large and high growing market.

Thank you.

CEO of NEXT Biometrics Group ASA

REPORT FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

A GLOBAL LEADER IN FINGERPRINT SENSOR TECHNOLOGY

NEXT Biometrics Group ASA ("Parent Company") is a public limited liability company incorporated and domiciled in Norway, with headquarters in Oslo, Norway. The Parent company and its subsidiaries ("NEXT" or "the Group") provides advanced fingerprint sensor technology that delivers uncompromised security and accuracy for the best possible user experience in the FAP20, notebook, government ID, access control and smart card markets.

NEXT's fingerprint sensors are unique, using active thermal conductivity to read the fingerprint, as opposed to capacitive or optical sensing used by others. This patented sensing principle allows simple designs uniquely compatible with the low temperature polysilicon production processes ("LTPS") used in high-end display factories. This enables significantly lower production cost for the Group's fingerprint sensors compared to competing sensors of similar quality. The Group has developed and markets a portfolio of fingerprint sensor modules, readers and flexible biometric subassemblies, which may be incorporated into a wide range of products and solutions.

The Group has six wholly owned subsidiaries: NEXT Biometrics AS (Norway) and its subsidiaries NEXT Biometrics Inc. (Seattle, USA), NEXT Biometrics China Ltd. (Shanghai, China), NEXT Biometrics Taiwan Ltd. (Taipei, Taiwan), NEXT Biometrics Solutions India Pvt. Ltd. (Bengaluru, India) and NEXT Biometrics s.r.o. (Prague, Czech Republic).

The Parent company's shares are listed on the Oslo Stock Exchange.

BUSINESS OVERVIEW

Biometric fingerprint sensing technology is gaining traction across the world. The technology is being used in PCs and governments and businesses have started deploying the technology in medical services, devices for pension payments, point of sale (POS) recording, facility access, voting registration and Time and Attendance solutions. In India, the Aadhaar program has more than one billion people registered with their fingerprints for access to different governmental services and benefit systems. The Group (NEXT) is a key player in this market. India's deployment of fingerprint technology and solutions has raised interest in other developing countries to deploy national ease of use fingerprint-based biometric infrastructure and devices for similar purposes.

The Group has developed products, established its manufacturing platform and sales and marketing to establish a business with significant footprint and customers in key markets such as Notebook, Government ID and POS solutions for voting and financial applications. The Group has shipped close to 8 million units to its customers after initiation of the company.

In the Notebook market the Group is working to increase the run rate revenues from existing clients. The Group is also working on new business opportunities with additional laptop manufacturers, focusing both on developing new opportunities with standard sensors and high security implementations based on the Microsoft Secure Bio standard. Subsequent to year-end, the Group announced its first order and design-win for its new Secure Bio laptop product with its largest existing laptop customer. The sensor product will be included in several of the customer's laptop products scheduled to enter market in the second half of 2021, following Microsoft's introduction of its Secure BIO standard.

In the Government ID market, the Group has been established as a key player in India with Aadhaar certified devices. The Group also has established a foothold in Africa with sales of sensors and readers. The new FAP20 high security solution is used by both existing customers as well as new customers for POS solutions for voting, financial inclusion and other solutions requiring ease of use and high security authentication. The Group's FAP20 sensor has been granted Personal Identity Verification (PIV) Certification in the US following tests by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). During 2020, the Group announced design-wins and shipped FAP20 sensors to multiple customers including LLC NF Citizen ID project in Russia, Newland Payment Technology's project in Nigeria and NCS' customized fingerprint readers targeted for the Singapore market. Late 2020, the Group announced that the FAP20 sensor integrated into Newland's POS device received formal certification by Nigeria Inter-Bank Settlement System (NIBSS). The FAP20 sensor is addressing a large market with strong growth, and the Group believes that the FAP20 sensor has a potential to disrupt a sizeable portion of this market. The Group continues its dialogue with current and prospective customers to increase sales of the FAP20 sensor technology for POS, Government ID and Access control applications. The product is sold both through the Group's direct sales force and partner network.

The Group has a unique proven technology that outperforms competitive solutions in key markets from form factor (size and thickness), biometric performance, quality, standard compliance and unit cost. In the access control market, the Group has launched a new module for harsh conditions late 2019. Moreover, the Group has completed the development phase of its dual interface smart card solution, which is ready to be deployed to new potential customers. The Group has a long-term focus on the broader smart card market which is expected to have growth potential with higher gross margins compared to pure biometric payments cards.

FINANCIAL RISK, CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

NEXT is exposed to certain financial risks related to exchange rates and interest levels. These are, however, insignificant compared to the business risk. Business risk may be summarized in:

- (a) NEXT currently has higher costs than revenues and has negative cash flow from operations.
- (b) NEXT's business plan assumes revenue from new products under development.
- (c) Revenue from NEXT's products depends, among other things, on market factors which are not controlled by NEXT.
- (d) Competing companies' products have entered the commercial stage, and the competitive situation for NEXT's products is constantly changing.
- (e) NEXT's intended markets are undergoing rapid technological changes.

NEXT manages its liquidity passively, which means that funds are placed in floating-interest bank accounts. The majority of cash is held in Norwegian kroner at parent company level and is distributed when appropriate to the affiliates. This is both to have control of the overall liquidity situation and to manage expense levels in the affiliates.

NEXT has financial liabilities related to one US dollar denominated loan and office leases in multiple locations as per 31 December 2020.

NEXT's sales and production cost are in US dollars. Other operating expenses are mainly in Norwegian kroner (NOK) and US dollars (USD), depending on the location. Equity transactions are in NOK. In the parent company, the majority of the cost and all equity transactions are in NOK. NEXT does not use financial instruments to hedge this risk.

The Group is exposed to credit risk, although this has historically not resulted in significant losses. NEXT sells its sensors to leading international distributors of electronic components, primarily based in Asia. The Group's receivables are not credit insured, but credit monitoring routines are in place for setting up credit lines and demanding advance payments when required.

At the end of 2020, the Group had 29 employees (2019: 65), of which 4 are women (2019: 9). Additionally, the Group has individual technical/scientific specialists working at its premises on a contract basis. The female proportion of group employees was 14% (2019: 14%).

The parent company had 3 employees by the end of 2020. There were 2 male employees and 1 female employee at year-end. There are currently 4 members of the board, of which 2 are women.

The parent company had no long-term leave of absence due to illness or any work-related incidents or accidents resulting in material damage or personal injury during 2020.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

NEXT's guidelines for corporate governance are in accordance with the Norwegian Accounting Act §3-3b and seek to comply with the Norwegian code of Practice for Corporate Governance, dated 17 October 2018. Please see annual report section "Principles of corporate governance" Annual Report for further details.

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

NEXT's guidelines for social responsibilities are in accordance with the Norwegian Accounting Act §3-3c. Please see separate annual report section "Corporate Social Responsibility Report" for more information.

GOING CONCERN

In accordance with § 3-3a of the Norwegian Accounting Act, the Board of Directors confirms that the financial statements have been prepared under the assumption of going concern.

SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Between 31 December 2020 and the resolution of these financial statements, there has not been any event which have had any noticeable impact on the Group's or the parent company's result for 2020 or the value of the Group or the parent company's assets and liabilities as of 31 December 2020, except events mentioned below.

On February 17, 2021, NEXT successfully completed a private placement issuing 14,819,897 new shares at a subscription price of NOK 6.0 per share, corresponding to gross proceeds of NOK 89 million. Please refer to note 22 in group consolidated financial statement for further details.

Early 2020, the COVID-19 pandemic spread to multiple countries where the Group has offices, outsourced production facilities and customers. The COVID-19 pandemic continues to affect the operation of the Group in 2021. Please see note 22 for further details.

OUTLOOK

The markets for NEXT's fingerprint sensor technology are expected to grow in 2021. The Board considers that NEXT's unique, current product portfolio and patented technology has considerable revenue potential.

The Group's main focus is to increase the number of customers choosing to design-in NEXT FAP20 sensors, Notebook sensors and India Aadhaar program products. The Group has achieved multiple FAP20 design-wins during 2020, which is the outmost important commercial step towards future recurring high margin orders. The design-wins include customers Newland Payment Technology (China), Credence ID (USA) and EKEMP Secure Identity (China). The recently announced large order from Credence ID amounting to NOK 7 million and the new 5-year partnership agreement with a world market leader in the biometric space confirms the market potential for NEXT's FAP20 product.

NEXT standard Notebook sensor shipments are scheduled to increase in 2021. In particular, the Group expects growth in the Laptop sensor segment from the second half of 2021. NEXT has received its first order for a new Microsoft compliant sensor product from one of its laptop customers. NEXT is also working with other laptop manufacturers with potential product launch(es) from late 2021 and during 2022.

Sales of the NEXT FAP20 sensor has the highest priority due to its considerable market potential and higher gross margin. The company is expecting to announce more FAP20 design-ins and additional purchase orders during 2021.

The fingerprint sensor and reader market in India has picked up in early 2021. NEXT is a part of the bidding process for multiple tenders and contracts to be awarded in the India market during 2021.

The implementation of the Group's cost reduction plan has been completed. The Group expects to continue to benefit from its lowered operating expense run rate running at approximately NOK 15 million per quarter in 2021.

NEXT expects growing revenues in 2021. The Group has achieved 15 design-wins from Q4 2019 up February 2021, which will contribute to future revenues. Additional design wins are expected to be announced during the remaining part of 2021. Moreover, with the Group's expected improvement in product mix, gross margin is expected to increase gradually towards the Group's targeted 35-40% during 2021, by improving product mix and increasing production and sales volumes. With the new lowered operating cost level, NOK 120-150 million in annualized revenues are likely required to reach break-even. The future revenues and gross margin will depend on general market growth, speed of adoption of NEXT's FAP20 product, partner demand for FAP20 sensors, laptop sensor demand, NEXT sales effectiveness and closing rate. Moreover, the targeted gross margin level is based on a changed future product mix with FAP20 products being at a much higher level than in Q4 2020. Overall, we believe the fingerprint solution markets and our thermal technology-based sensors have potential to grow significantly in the longer term as more and more design-wins are added.

The nomination committee shall consist of two to three members, where all members, including the chairman, are elected by the general meeting, which also have approved guidelines for the duties and remuneration of the nomination committee. The members are elected for a period of up to two years.

The current nomination committee was elected at the annual general meeting on 12 May 2020 for the period until the annual general meeting in 2021. All of the members of the nomination committee have been selected to take into account the interests of shareholders in general and are independent from both the Company's management and the Company's board. As of 31 December 2020, the nomination committee consisted of Jon Frode Vaksvik (chairman) and Haakon M. Sæter.

The nomination committee has contact with shareholders, the board of directors and the Company's executive personnel as part of its work on proposing candidates for election to the board.

The Company provides information on the membership of the committee.

8. THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS: COMPOSITION AND INDEPENDENCE

Composition of the board of directors

The articles of association state that the Company's board of directors should comprise 3-9 board members elected by the general meeting. The chairman of the board is elected by the general meeting and among the Company's board.

NEXT emphasises that the board shall have requisite competency to independently evaluate the cases presented by the executive management team as well as the Company's operation. It is also considered important that the board can function well as a body of colleagues.

As of 31 December 2020, the board of directors comprises the following four members:

- Petter Fjellstad
- Odd Harald Hauge
- Emine Lundkvist
- Live Haukvik

All of the abovementioned board members are elected for the period until the annual general meeting in 2021.

A presentation of the board can be found at the Company's website.

The board's independence

NEXT believes that it is in the best interest of the Company and its shareholders to have independent directors and applies the Code's list of criteria for evaluating whether a director is considered independent.

Two out of the four board members are women, and none of the members of the Company's executive management or main business connections are members of the board of directors. The members of the board of directors are independent of the Company's main shareholders. The composition of the board ensures that it can attend to the common interests of all shareholders and meet the Company's need for expertise, capacity and diversity, and that it can operate independently of any special interests.

Each independent director who experiences a change in circumstances that could affect such director's independence is obligated to deliver a notice of such change to the chairman of the board.

Members of the board are encouraged to own shares in the Company.

Election of the board of directors

The general meeting appoints the members of the board of directors based on the proposal from the Company's nomination committee. The chairman of the board is elected by the General Meeting.

Directors are elected each year. It is the Company's view that directors who have developed a valuable insight into the Company and its operations over time provide an important contribution to the board as a whole. On this background, the Company does not wish to establish time limits in relation to the term of office for board members.

To ensure that the board continues to generate new ideas and operate effectively, the board evaluates and assesses their performance annually, and takes necessary steps in order to continue their service as directors.

A member of the board is entitled to retire prior to the end of his or her term of appointment if special circumstances arise. If possible, the board and the nomination committee shall be given reasonable prior notice thereof.

9. THE WORK OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The board's responsibilities

Norwegian law lays down the tasks and responsibilities of the board of directors. These include the overall management and supervision of the Company. This means that the board bears the ultimate responsibility for managing the Company and for monitoring administration and the business activities. The board is responsible for establishing internal control systems and for ensuring that the Company operates in compliance with the adopted value platform and Code of Ethics. The directors of the board shall discharge their duties in a loyal manner.

The board of directors must be notified of the decision as soon as possible.

The board evaluates the integrity of the Company's accounting and financial reporting systems, including the audit of the Company's annual financial statements by the independent auditors, and that appropriate disclosure controls and procedures and systems of internal control are in place.

Quarterly and annually financial reports are reviewed and approved at board meetings and form the basis for external financial reporting.

Board meetings

The board shall deliberate matters and make decisions in meetings, unless the chairman of the board finds that the matter may be presented in writing or be dealt with in another satisfactory manner.

The directors are free to consult the Company's executives as needed. Any board member or the CEO can require specific matters to be deliberated by the board. The CEO shall, in consultation with the chairman of the board, prepare matters to be deliberated by the board. Any matter shall always be prepared and presented in such a manner as to provide the board with a satisfactory basis for making a decision.

The CEO has a right and a duty to attend the board's deliberation of matters, unless otherwise determined by the board in respect of each individual matter. The CEO is not entitled to cast votes. Other participants are called in as needed.

Conflicts of interest and disqualification

The board of directors ensures that members of the board of directors and executive personnel make the Company aware of any material interest that they may have in items to be considered by the board of directors.

A member of the board or the executive management may not participate in the discussion or decision of issues of such special and prominent interest to the person in question, or to any closely related party of said person, that the board member or member of the executive management must be regarded as having a distinct personal or financial interest in the matter. This is in compliance with §6-27 of the Norwegian Public Limited Companies Act.

Chairman of the board of directors

The chairman of the board of directors ensures that the board of directors operates well and carries out its duties. In addition, the chairman of the board of directors also has certain specific duties in respect of the general meeting. Matters to be considered by the board are prepared by the chief executive in collaboration with the chairman, who chairs the meetings of the board.

The remuneration of the board reflects the board's responsibility, expertise, time commitment and the complexity of the Company's activities.

The general meeting approves the remuneration paid to the board of directors each year. The nomination committee makes the proposal for remuneration.

The remuneration of the board of directors is not linked to the Company's performance. The current board members have been granted share options in 2020 (see section 4 above), which were approved at the Annual General Meeting held in 2020.

For more details on the remuneration to the board, please refer to note 4 to the annual financial statements.

Except for the one deviation above, the Company does not deviate from the Code.

12. REMUNERATION OF EXECUTIVE MANAGEMENT

The guidelines are communicated to the annual general meeting, and the board of director's guidelines will be presented in a separate appendix to the agenda for the general meeting.

The main principle in the Company's policy for remuneration is that the leading employees shall be offered competitive terms to attract and retain the competence which the Company needs.

The general meeting has approved the Company's share option arrangement.

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY REPORT

This review of the Group's Corporate Social Responsibility principles and practice is prepared in compliance with Section 3-3c of the Norwegian Accounting Act.

NEXT's business consists of research & development, commercialization and manufacturing of fingerprint technology and products for a variety of uses. NEXT works closely with world class manufacturing subcontractors and distribution partners. NEXT is committed to be a good corporate citizen and demonstrate integrity and high ethical standards in all its business dealings.

NEXT's board and management are committed to maintaining high ethical standards and have implemented guidelines with regard to values and ethics. The purpose of these standards and guidelines is to create a sound corporate culture and to preserve the integrity of NEXT by helping employees to promote standards of good business practice. NEXT's Ethical and Social Responsibility Guidelines was last approved by the Board on 11 November 2019 and applies to all employees of the Group. They also apply to anyone who holds a position of trust in the Group (including membership of boards) and hired consultants acting on behalf of the Group. They aim to provide guidance to our people for a common platform.

The Group strives for a business culture characterized by openness. Openness is a prerequisite for motivation, trust, confidence and safety at work. Everyone shall feel confident to raise any concern, small or large, with their manager or another colleague.

The ethical and corporate social responsibility rules support NEXT's vision, core values and principles. The guidelines are instrumental for NEXT's approach to human rights, fair working environment and equal rights, health and safety, environment, business ethics and anti-corruption. The Group regularly reviews the guidelines and take steps to update and educate the organization.

HUMAN RIGHTS

In addition to following national rules and regulations, NEXT conducts its business in line with fundamental international rules. Including those described in international human rights conventions such as the UN Convention on Human Rights and the labour rights conventions of the International Labour Organization (ILO).

The Group respects the right to freedom of association and opposes any form of child labour, forced labour or discrimination. NEXT practices equal opportunities and rights and encourage all business relations to follow the same principles. Any violations of basic human rights are unacceptable to the Group.

It is our goal to have no form of human rights abuse or labor issue at any stage related to production of our products.

FAIR WORKING ENVIRONMENT

NEXT has a personnel policy designed to prevent discrimination on the grounds of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, language, religion, legitimate political or other opinions, national or social origin, property, birth or other status.

The Group employs many different nationalities from a diversity of cultures and has built an international mindset for years. Employees are encouraged to treat each other and business contacts with respect and act according to local laws and regulations, as well as to pay attention to local values and norms for social conduct.

The Group does not tolerate degrading treatments towards any employee. The Groups employees are encouraged to report any incident of discrimination to their nearest leader or through the applicable whistle-blow channels through our HR department.

The NEXT board and management seek to create a working environment that is pleasant, stimulating, safe and beneficial to all employees. The working environment complies with the existing rules and regulations. The board has not found reason to implement special measures. No employee has suffered work-related injury resulting in sick leave. No accidents nor incidents involving the assets of the Group have occurred.

EQUAL RIGHTS

All facilities are equally well equipped for females and males. Traditionally, fewer women than men have graduated in NEXT's fields of work, and the candidates available for recruiting have often predominantly been males. The management structure reflects the composition of the technical staff. Of the 29 employees at the end of 2020, 4 are women. At year-end 2020, the parent company has 4 board members, of which 2 are women. The parent company complies with Norwegian legal requirement with respect to gender representation in the board of directors. The board has not taken any special measures.

Raising awareness of employees on Human rights and Labor principles and relevant issues are regularly done by internal training and as part of the introduction program for new employees.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

Health and safety are an indispensable component in all the Group's activities. All hazards and risks to health and safety must be avoided. Generally, NEXT's business involves low safety risk in the day-to-day activities, without use of heavy machinery or equipment that can cause damage or injuries. As a fabless biometrics company, production has been outsourced to specialized manufacturers. NEXT is concerned for safety of employees in third-party-factories and it is an integral part of the evaluation criteria which the Group applies ahead of being classified as a "NEXT certified vendor/partner".

None of the processes in use by the suppliers are known to be of particular hazard to the staff.

ENVIRONMENT

NEXT does not own or operate manufacturing facilities. Manufacturing is done through third parties that comply with the ISO 14001 environmental standard, among others. Consequently, there is little pollution associated with the Group's operations. NEXT seeks to limit resource consumption, prevent unnecessary environmental pollution including optimizing transportation of goods, and manage waste in an environment friendly and resource efficient manner.

BUSINESS ETHICS & ANTI-CORRUPTION

The Group's operations depend on the trust of contractual parties, the authorities, shareholders, employees and society in general. In order to gain trust, the Group is dependent upon professionalism, expertise and high ethical standards in all aspects of the Group's work. This applies to the way the Group operates and to the conduct of each individual. All employees are therefore expected to behave with care, integrity and professionalism and abstain from actions that may weaken trust in the Group.

The NEXT Biometrics' Ethical and Corporate Social Responsibility Guidelines contain guidelines for ethical behaviour in business relations. These clearly states that NEXT strongly oppose all forms of corruption or bribery. NEXT encourages reporting of suspected misconduct; a «whistle-blower» communication channel. NEXT adheres to national and foreign antitrust laws.

No one may receive benefits for themselves or for others from the Group's business contacts if such benefits are based on the employment relationship. Correspondingly, no one shall give such benefits to the Group's business contacts. The guidelines explicitly govern conflict of interests, gifts and money laundering. Business courtesies of modest value, conforming to normal social customs and not intended for influence, are not considered bribes. All gifts with an estimated value of more than NOK 1,000 must be reported to the Group's CFO, who will keep a log over such gifts and assess whether the relevant gift can be retained or provided, based on a case by case evaluation.

NEXT has to date not been accused of, or involved in, any cases pertaining to any form of corruption or bribery. NEXT encourages each employee to report on possible censurable incidents. NEXT's employees have an obligation to report on criminal activity and on incidents which could endanger life or health. The board of directors and management are not aware of any breach of our code of conduct.

Raising awareness of the guideline has been the Group's main action with regard to this area. The Group is not aware of any breach of the implemented guideline. The Group does not have any other guidelines or actions regarding Corporate Social Responsibility due to the limited size and resources of the parent company. The Group will continue to have high focus on these guidelines and incorporate them into our company culture. The Group will do this by updating and educating the organization.

NEXT's Ethical and Corporate Social Responsibility Guideline is publicly available on NEXT' website.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 – GENERAL INFORMATION

NEXT Biometrics Group ASA (“Parent company”) is a public limited liability company, incorporated and domiciled in Norway, with headquarter in Oslo, Norway. The Parent company and its subsidiaries (“NEXT” or “the Group”) provides advanced fingerprint sensor technology that delivers uncompromised security and accuracy for the best possible user experience in the smart card, government ID, access control and notebook markets.

NEXT’s fingerprint sensors are unique, using active thermal conductivity to read the fingerprint, as opposed to capacitive or optical sensing used by others. This patented sensing principle allows simple designs uniquely compatible with the low temperature polysilicon production processes (“LTPS”) used in high-end display factories. This enables significantly lower production cost for the Group’s fingerprint sensors compared to competing sensors of similar quality. The Group has developed and markets a portfolio of fingerprint sensor modules, readers and flexible biometric subassemblies, which may be incorporated into a wide range of products and solutions.

The Group has six wholly owned operating subsidiaries: NEXT Biometrics AS (Norway) and its subsidiaries NEXT Biometrics Inc. (Seattle, USA), NEXT Biometrics China Ltd. (Shanghai, China), NEXT Biometrics Taiwan Ltd. (Taipei, Taiwan), NEXT Biometrics Solutions India Pvt. Ltd. (Bengaluru, India) and NEXT Biometrics s.r.o. (Prague, Czech Republic).

NEXT ASA’s shares are listed on the Oslo Stock Exchange.

The purpose of the company as stated in the articles of association is to conduct research, development and commercialization of security products, as well as other activities that will naturally fall under this.

The financial statements have been approved for issuance by the Board of Directors on 20 April 2021 and is subject to approval by the Annual General Meeting on 12 May 2021.

Changes in accounting policies

The accounting policies applied are consistent with those applied in the previous financial year as described below.

New and amended standards and interpretations adopted by the Group:

There have not been any new and amended standards and interpretations adopted with effect from 1 January 2020 that had a material impact on the Group.

New and amended standards and interpretations not yet adopted:

Certain new and amended standards and interpretations have been published but are not mandatory for financial statements as of 31 December 2020. They have not been early adopted by the Group and are not expected to have a material impact on the Group.

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of preparation

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) as adopted by the EU, being standards and interpretations issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (“IASB”), in force at 31 December 2020.

Going concern

In accordance with § 3-3a of the Norwegian Accounting Act, the Board of Directors confirms that the financial statements have been prepared under the assumption of going concern.

Measurement basis

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention, unless otherwise presented in the accounting policies below. Historical cost is generally based on the fair value of the consideration given in exchange for assets.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. NEXT uses market observable data to the extent possible when measuring the fair value of an asset or a liability. If the fair value of an asset or a liability is not directly observable, it is estimated by NEXT using valuation techniques that maximize the use of relevant observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Financial risk and capital management

NEXT is exposed to certain financial risks related to exchange rates and interest levels. These are, however, insignificant compared to the business risk. Business risk may be summarized in:

- (a) NEXT currently has limited revenue compared to cost. The Group has reported accumulated financial losses.
- (b) NEXT’s business plan assumes revenue from new products under development.
- (c) Revenue from NEXT’s products depends, among other things, on market factors which are not controlled by NEXT.
- (d) Competing companies’ products have entered the commercial stage, and the competitive situation for NEXT’s products is constantly changing.
- (e) NEXT’s intended markets are undergoing rapid technological changes.

NEXT manages its liquidity passively, which means that funds are placed in floating-interest bank accounts. The majority of cash is held in Norwegian kroner at Parent company level and is distributed when appropriate to the affiliates. This is both to have control of the overall liquidity situation and to manage expense levels in the affiliates.

NEXT’s US subsidiary has obtained a loan in USD currency (see note 19). NEXT has no other financial non-current debt by the end of 2020, except for lease liabilities.

NEXT’s sales and production cost are in US dollars. Other operating expenses are mainly in Norwegian kroner (NOK) and US dollars (USD), depending on the location. Equity transactions are in NOK. In the Parent company, the majority of the cost and all equity transactions are in NOK. NEXT does not use financial instruments to hedge this risk.

Investments in fixed assets are only made when mandatory for the needs of the core business. NEXT has mainly been funded by equity and will prepare and implement comprehensive capital management and funding policies as and when needed.

The Group is exposed to credit risk, although this has historically not resulted in significant losses. NEXT sells its sensors to leading international distributors of electronic components, primarily based in Asia. The Group’s receivables are not credit insured, but credit monitoring routines are in place for setting up credit lines and demanding advance payments when required.

Consolidation

NEXT's consolidated financial statements comprise of the Parent company and companies in which the Parent company has a controlling interest. A controlling interest is normally obtained when the Group holds more than 50 per cent of the voting rights or has decisive power on the entity's operational and financial management. Minority interests are included in the Group's equity. Intragroup transactions and balance sheet items and any unrealized gains or losses or revenue and cost related to intragroup transactions have been eliminated when preparing the consolidated financial statements.

Revenue from contracts with customers

The Group develops, manufactures and sell fingerprint sensors. In general, sales are recognized when control of the products has transferred at delivery according to delivery terms. The Group delivers products and send invoices both to distributors and directly to end customers. The Group assess individual contracts and makes determines whether a distributor is a customer or a sales agent. When making this assessment it will be considered whether the buyer could have the opportunity to return products to the Group, whether the distributor/agent independently can set end customer prices and sell products to any end customer. The classification of a distributor as a customer or a sales agent will have an impact on the timing and measurement of revenue recognition

The goods are sold based on fixed prices with no variable consideration. No significant element of financing is deemed present as the sales are normally made with a credit term of 30 days upon delivery, which is consistent with market practice. A receivable is recognized when the goods are delivered as this is the point in time that the consideration is unconditional because only the passage of time is required before the payment is due.

Currency

These financial statements are presented in Norwegian kroner, which is also the Parent company's functional currency. Each entity in the Group determines its own functional currency based on local operations, and items included in the financial statements are measured using that functional currency.

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currency are converted to the functional currency using the exchange rates of the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses in foreign currency are converted using the exchange rate at the transaction date.

Assets and liabilities in foreign operations are translated into the presentation currency using the exchange rates on the balance sheet date. Incomes and expenses relating to foreign operations are translated into the presentation currency using the average exchange rate. Translation differences are recognized in other comprehensive income (loss).

Translation differences previously recognized in other comprehensive income (loss) are reversed and recognized in profit and loss when the foreign operations are disposed.

Intangible assets

Separately acquired intangible assets

On initial recognition, intangible assets acquired separately are measured at cost. The cost of a separately acquired intangible asset comprises its purchase price, including import duties and non-refundable purchase taxes, after deducting trade discounts and rebates and any directly attributable cost of preparing the asset for its intended use.

After initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less any accumulated amortization and impairment losses. The estimated useful life and amortization method are revised at the end of each reporting period with the effect of any changes in estimate being accounted for on a prospective basis.

An intangible asset is derecognized on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from use or disposal. Gains or losses arising from derecognition of an intangible asset - measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset - are recognized in profit or loss when the asset is derecognized.

Internally generated intangible assets

Development costs represent typical internally generated intangible assets of relevance for the Group. Costs incurred in relation to individual projects are capitalized only when the future economic benefit of the project is probable and the following main conditions are met: (i) the development costs can be measured reliably, (ii) the technical feasibility of the product has been ascertained and (iii) Management has the intention and ability to complete the intangible asset and use or sell it.

When expenditure is initially recognized as an expense, for example where it cannot be determined whether future economic benefits are probable, it cannot later be recognized as part of the cost of an intangible asset.

Research costs are expensed as incurred.

Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are held at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses. When assets are sold or disposed, the gross carrying amount and accumulated depreciations are reversed. Any gain or loss on the sale or disposal is recognized in the profit and loss.

The gross carrying amount is the purchase price, including duties/taxes and direct acquisition costs related to making the asset ready for use. Subsequent costs, such as repair and maintenance expenses, are normally recognized in profit or loss as incurred. When increased future economic benefits as a result of repair/maintenance work can be proven, such expenses will be recognized in the balance sheet as additions to property, plant and equipment.

The assets are depreciated using the straight-line method over each asset's useful life. Estimated useful life and residual value are reviewed at least at each financial year end.

Impairment of assets

Assessments of indications that assets may be impaired are made by the end of each reporting period. If an asset's carrying amount is higher than the asset's recoverable amount, an impairment loss will be recognized in profit and loss. The recoverable amount is the higher of the fair value less costs to sell and the discounted cash flow from continued use. The fair value less costs to sell is the net amount that can be obtained from a sale to an independent third party. The recoverable amount is determined separately for each asset.

Provisions

Provisions are recognized when, and only when, the Group has a valid liability (legal or constructive) as a result of events that have taken place and it is more probable than not that a financial settlement will take place as a result of the event(s), and the size of the amount can be measured reliably. Provisions are reviewed on each balance sheet date and their level reflects the best estimate of the liability. When the effect of time is insignificant, the provisions will be equal to the size of the expense necessary to be free of the liability. When the effect of time is significant, the provisions will amount to the present value of future payments to cover the liability. Any increase in the provisions due to time is recorded as other financial expenses.

Financial assets and liabilities

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially recognized when the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Trade receivables are initially recognized when they are originated. A financial asset or financial liability is initially measured at fair value plus, for an item not at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are directly attributable to its acquisition or issue. A trade receivable without a significant financing component is initially measured at the transaction price.

On initial recognition, a financial asset is classified as measured at amortized cost, fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI) or fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL).

The Group makes an assessment of the objective of the business model in which a financial asset is held. The business model determines whether cash flows will result from collecting contractual cash flows, selling the financial asset or both. In assessing whether the contractual cash flows are solely payments of principal and interest (SPPI test), the Group considers the contractual terms of the instrument. The Groups financial assets at amortized cost includes trade receivables. Financial assets are not reclassified subsequent to their initial recognition unless the Group changes its business model for managing financial assets.

Financial asset impairment

The Group recognizes loss allowances for ECLs on financial assets measured at amortized cost. For trade receivables that do not contain a significant financing component, the simplified approach is applied, and the Group recognize lifetime expected credit loss (ECL). The Group applies the provision matrix as a practical expedient to calculate ECL. The provision matrix is based on historical losses and forward-looking information and is updated at each reporting date. In addition, the trade receivables are grouped in customer segments that have a similar loss pattern. For trade receivables which are individually assessed the ECL is calculated as the exposure at default multiplied with the probability of default multiplied with the exposure at default. The Group consider the rebuttable presumption that default does not occur later than 90 days past due as its policy.

When determining whether the credit risk of a financial asset has increased significantly since initial recognition and when estimating ECLs, the Group considers reasonable and supportable information that is relevant and available without undue cost or effort. This includes both quantitative and qualitative information and analysis, based on the Group's historical experience and informed credit assessment and including forward-looking information.

ECLs are discounted at the effective interest rate of the financial asset. For trade receivables without significant financing component, the time value of money will not need to be considered as it is insignificant and the ECL will therefore not be discounted. Loss allowances for financial assets measured at amortized cost are deducted from the gross carrying amount of the assets.

Financial asset write-off

The gross carrying amount of a financial asset is written off when the Group has no reasonable expectations of recovering a financial asset in its entirety or a portion thereof. However, financial assets that are written off could still be subject to enforcement activities in order to comply with the Group's procedures for recovery of amounts due.

Inventory

Raw materials, work in progress and finished products are valued at the lower of cost and net realizable value after deduction for obsolescence. Net realizable value is estimated as the selling price less cost of completion and the cost necessary to make the sale. Costs are determined using the FIFO method. Work in progress and finished goods includes variable cost and non-variable cost which can reasonably be allocated to items based on normal capacity.

Finished products, work in progress and raw materials are valued at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Net realizable value is estimated as the selling price less cost of completion and the cost necessary to make the sale. Costs are determined using the weighted average method. Raw materials, work in progress and finished products includes variable cost and non-variable cost which can be allocated to items based on normal capacity.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash in hand and deposits held at call with banks.

Taxes

The tax expense consists of the tax payable and changes in deferred tax. Deferred tax has been calculated based on the temporary differences between the recorded and tax values, as well as on any tax loss carry-forward at the balance sheet closing date. Any temporary differences increasing or reducing tax that will or may reverse in the same period, have been netted.

A deferred tax asset will be recognized when it is probable that the Group will have sufficient profit for tax purposes to utilize the tax asset. At each balance sheet date, the Group reviews its unrecognized deferred tax assets and the value it has recognized. The Group recognizes an unrecognized deferred tax asset to the extent that it has become probable that the Group can utilize the deferred tax asset. Similarly, the Group will reduce its deferred tax asset to the extent that it can no longer utilize it.

Deferred tax and deferred tax assets are measured on the basis of the expected future tax rates.

Contingent liabilities and assets

Contingent liabilities are possible obligations resulting from past events which existence depends on future events; obligations that are not recognized because it is not probable that they will lead to an outflow of resources; and obligations that cannot be measured with sufficient reliability.

Contingent liabilities are not recognized in the annual financial statements but will be disclosed in the notes if applicable. A contingent asset is not recognized in the annual financial statements but is disclosed in the notes if there is a degree of probability that a benefit will accrue to the Group.

Share-based remuneration

Share-based payments are equity-settled share options granted to employees, contractors and members of the board of directors. The options are charged against the income statements at their fair value over the vesting period, with a corresponding increase in equity. The fair value of share-based options is determined using a Black & Scholes option-pricing model.

The social security contribution payable in connection with the exercise of the share options is accrued on a straight-line basis as current liabilities, based on the intrinsic value of the share options at the end of each accounting period with consequent charges to the payroll expenses.

Costs related to employees and members of the board are charged as payroll expenses, while costs related to members of the advisory board and contractors are charged as other operating expenses.

Leasing agreements

The Group recognizes the lease liability and a corresponding right-of-use asset at the commencement date of the lease. Lease liabilities are measured at the present value of the remaining lease payments not paid at the commencement date. The lease payments are discounted using the lessee's interest rate implicit in the lease, or incremental borrowing rate when the interest rate implicit in the lease cannot be readily determined. Lease payments consists of the following elements: fixed payments, variable lease payment that are based on an index or a rate, amounts expected to be payable by the lessee under residual value guarantees, the exercise price of a purchase option if the lessee is reasonably certain to exercise that option, and payments of penalties for terminating the lease if the lease term reflects the lessee exercising that option. A corresponding asset representing the right to use the underlying asset during the lease term (right-of-use asset) is recognized, adjusted for prepayments done before commencement date, and initial direct costs and restoration costs if any. The right-of-use-asset is depreciated over the lease term and the depreciation expense is recognized as an operating expense. Interest expense on the lease liability is recognized as a financial expense.

Lease contracts entered with a duration of less than 12 months and leases with a low value will not be recognized in the statement of financial position but recognized as an operating expense over the lease period. Lessees will be also required to remeasure the lease liability upon the occurrence of certain events (e.g., a change in the lease term, a change in future lease payments resulting from a change in an index or rate used to determine those payments). The lessee will generally recognize the amount of the remeasurement of the lease liability as an adjustment to the right-of-use asset.

Termination benefits

Termination benefits are payable when the employment is terminated by the Group before the normal retirement date or when an employee accepts voluntary redundancy in exchange for these benefits. The Group recognizes termination benefits when the Group can no longer withdraw the offer.

Earnings per share

Earnings per share are calculated by dividing the profit or loss for the period by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding over the course of the period. Earnings per share fully diluted are calculated based on the result or the year divided by the average number of shares fully diluted. The effect of dilution is not counted in when the result is a decrease loss per share. .

Equity transactions

Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of ordinary shares are recognized as a deduction from equity. Income tax relating to transaction costs of an equity transaction is accounted for in accordance with IAS 12.

Cash flow

The cash flow statement has been drawn up in accordance with the indirect method and reports cash flows during the period classified by operating, investing and financing activities.

Government grants

Government grants are recognized when there is reasonable assurance that the grant will be received, and all attaching conditions will be complied with. When the grant relates to an expense item, it is recognized as a reduction in expense. When the grant can be viewed as payment for a deliverable or performance of service, it is recognized as other revenue.

Segment reporting

The Group currently reports only in one business segment. Hence, all revenue and cost are related to the fingerprint sensor technology business segment.

Income taxes

Deferred tax assets related to losses carried forward is recognized when it is probable that the loss carried forward may be utilized. Evaluation of probability is based on historical earnings, expected future margins and the size of the order backlog. Future events may lead to these estimates being changed. Such changes will be recognized when reliable new estimates can be made.

Estimates and judgements

Preparation of financial statements in accordance with IFRS requires that the management makes judgements and prepares estimates and assumptions which have an impact on the recognized amounts for assets, liabilities, revenue and costs. Estimates and related assumptions have been based on the management's best knowledge of past and recent events, experience and other factors which are considered reasonable under the circumstances. Actual results may deviate from such assumptions. Estimates and underlying assumptions are subject to continuous evaluation.

Critical account estimates for the Group are:

Share-based remuneration:

The Group estimates the fair value of options at the grant date. The Group has applied a Black & Scholes option-pricing model when valuing the options. The option valuation is based on assumptions about share price, volatility, interest rates and duration of the options. The cost of share-based remuneration is expensed over the vesting period. Estimates with regards to future attrition are applied. Such estimates are updated at the balance sheet date. Changes in this estimate will impact the expensed cost of share-based remuneration in the period.

Research and development expenses/ Intangible assets:

Research costs are expensed as incurred. An intangible asset arising from the development expenditure on an individual project is recognized only when the Group can demonstrate the technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale, the Group's intention and capability of completing the development and realize the assets, and the net future financial benefits of use or sale.

THE GROUP

The Group targets four markets for the technology;

- (I) Notebook
- (II) Government ID
- (III) Access control
- (IV) Smart cards

The available technology is generic into the four markets. Most of the Group's key IP, including our NEXT Active Thermal™ is shared and used in all four markets. Most employees in the Group works broad, adding value to all markets and technologies. The R&D personnel are focused on technology, rather than markets such as notebook or Government ID. Based on this, the Group consider that we only operate within one business segment, and therefore also report only within one business segment, "Fingerprint sensor technology".

The operating revenue, both in 2020 and in 2019, was mainly related to customers geographically located in Asia.

Other revenue of NOK 0.4 million relates to gain on sublease of office, see note 11 for further information.

CEO REMUNERATION

Peter Heuman has a salary of NOK 2.8 million per year. In addition, he is part of the Company's option plan and the bonus program, which provides annual bonuses based upon the achievement of performance objectives established by the company. Further, the CEO is entitled to a pension benefit of 15% of annual base salary. Peter Heuman was awarded a bonus in 2020 and the company also paid pension benefits as salary for the amount in excess of the company's standard pension contribution for 2019 and 2020.

SEVERANCE

Peter Heuman has a severance agreement whereby he will receive 100% pay for 6 months for termination by the Company without cause.

LOANS AND GUARANTEES FOR SENIOR EXECUTIVES

The Company has not made any advance payments or issued loans to, or guarantees in favor of, any senior executives or members of the board.

SHARE BASED REMUNERATION

Salary, pension and any bonuses will attract employer's tax, which will be expensed simultaneously with the remuneration. The notional cost of options as share-based remuneration is expensed, but the equity effect is nil because the contra item is a notional equity injection of equal amount. In addition, employer's tax is accrued on the intrinsic value of the option on the balance sheet date.

For the shareholders, a possible exercise will represent a dilution. At the end of 2020, the number of outstanding options to senior executives amounted to 5,661,501 corresponding to 7.5% of the share capital. At the end of 2019, the number of outstanding options to senior executives amounted to 992,416 corresponding to 2.3 % of the share capital.

For further details regarding share-based remuneration, see note 18.

NOTE 1 - GENERAL INFORMATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

NEXT Biometrics Group ASA is a holding company and contains the Group Management.

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") as adopted by the EU, being standards and interpretations issued by the International Accounting Standards Board ("IASB"), in force at 31 December 2020.

NEXT Biometrics Group ASA's accounting principles are consistent with the accounting principles for the Group, as described in note 2 of the consolidated financial statements. Where the notes for the parent company are substantially different from the notes for the Group, these are shown below. Otherwise, refer to the notes to the consolidated financial statements.

Shares in subsidiaries are accounted for using the cost method. The investments in subsidiaries are valued at cost unless impairment is required. When the parent has an obligation to settle share-based remuneration to employees in subsidiaries in its own equity instruments, this is accounted for as an increase in equity and a corresponding increase in shares in subsidiaries.

Shares in subsidiaries and loans provided to subsidiaries are evaluated at the lower of cost or fair value. Assessments of impairment on shares in subsidiaries are done by the end of each reporting period. At year-end 2020, the market value of NEXT Biometrics Group ASA at Oslo Stock Exchange was higher than the book value of the equity in the parent company. Hence, no indication of impairment.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with laws, regulations, and auditing standards and practices generally accepted in Norway, including International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company and the Group as required by laws and regulations, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

The nature of the company's operations have remained largely unchanged compared to last year. It has not been regulatory changes, transactions or events that have led to the identification of new key audit matters. Our focus areas have therefore been the same in 2020 as last year. Key audit matter on impairment of shares in subsidiaries from last year, however, is no longer deemed key to our audit, as no impairment indicators were identified for 2020.

| Key Audit Matter | How our audit addressed the Key Audit Matter |
|--|---|
| Revenue Recognition The Group develops and sells fingerprint sensors for authentication in the smart card, government ID, access control and notebook markets. The Group's sales are either handled through distributors or sales directly to end-customers. In situations where the group sells through a distributor it is challenging to determine based on the terms of the contracts and the business set up, whether a distributor is considered an agent or a principal for accounting purposes. The complexity of the arrangements with distributors and end-customers lead to an inherent risk of misinterpretation of the terms, and as a consequence, a risk that revenue is recorded in a financial period before control has passed over to the customer. Furthermore, there is a risk that revenue is recorded net of service charge to distributors if the distributor is considered an agent rather than a principal. If that were to happen, revenue and cost of goods sold would both be understated by the same amount. We refer to note 2 where management describes their principle for revenue recognition. | Our audit procedures included among others, a review of customer contracts and distribution contracts and assessment of contract terms and business set up to understand how they relate to IFRS requirements for revenue recognition. Further, we assessed whether the distributor, when acting in line with the stipulations in the agreements, was an agent or a principal and when control of the goods was transferred from the Group. To test whether revenue was recognized in the correct period, we tested transactions in the period close to year end. We also performed a review of goods shipped to the distributor acting as agent to the Company and assessed whether there were goods not transferred to end-customers as per 31 December 2020. Furthermore, we evaluated management's assessment of probability of return of goods. Our evaluation was also based on testing of credit notes after 31 December 2020. Invoiced sales to the largest distributors representing material part of total revenue in 2020, was tested by obtaining confirmations from the distributors. To test whether revenue was recorded net of service charge, we performed a review of invoices sent to the distributor acting as agent to the Company and compared the price to the price agreed with the end customer and the level of service charge (margin) as agreed in the distribution contract. We read the note relevant to revenue recognition and found that the note gave an adequate description of how the Group applies IFRS on revenue recognition. |

Other information

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises information in the annual report, except the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of the Board of Directors and the Managing Director for the Financial Statements

The Board of Directors and the Managing Director (Management) are responsible for the preparation in accordance with law and regulations, including a true and fair view of the financial statements in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards as adopted by the EU, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's and the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with laws, regulations, and auditing standards and practices generally accepted in Norway, including ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with laws, regulations, and auditing standards and practices generally accepted in Norway, including ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. We design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's or the Group's internal control.
- evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company and the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company and the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves a true and fair view.
- obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with the Board of Directors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide the Board of Directors with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with the Board of Directors, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Opinion on the Board of Directors' report

Based on our audit of the financial statements as described above, it is our opinion that the information presented in the Board of Directors' report and in the statements on Corporate Governance and Corporate Social Responsibility concerning the financial statements, the going concern assumption and the proposed allocation of the result is consistent with the financial statements and complies with the law and regulations.

Opinion on Registration and Documentation

Based on our audit of the financial statements as described above, and control procedures we have considered necessary in accordance with the International Standard on Assurance Engagements (ISAE) 3000, Assurance Engagements Other than Audits or Reviews of Historical Financial Information, it is our opinion that management has fulfilled its duty to produce a proper and clearly set out registration and documentation of the Company's accounting information in accordance with the law and bookkeeping standards and practices generally accepted in Norway.
